Tutoring Experience

For the past 12 years, I have worked as a dedicated tutor, helping students achieve top grades in IGCSE and A-Level curricula. My experience spans guiding students through science and maths subjects, as well as preparing them for competitive school and university entrance exams. Many of my students have gained admission to prestigious institutions worldwide.

In addition to subject tutoring, I have coached students on personal statement writing and mock interviews, particularly for medical school applications. I've also delivered specialised clinical skills sessions, working closely with aspiring healthcare professionals to ensure they are well-prepared for academic and practical challenges.
